this book is prof givon s long awaited critical examination of the fundamental theoretical and methodological underpinnings of the functionalist approach to grammar it challenges functionalists to take their own medicine and establish non circular empirical definitions of both function and structure ideological hand waving however fervent and right thinking is seldom an adequate substitute for analytic rigor and empirical responsibility if the reductionist extremism of the various structuralist schools is to be challenged on solid intellectual grounds the challenge cannot itself be equally extreme in its reductionism the book is divided into nine chapters 1 prospectus somewhat jaundiced overview 2 markedness as meta iconicity distributional and cognitive correlates of syntactic structure 3 the functional basis of grammatical typology 4 modal prototypes of truth and action 5 taking structure seriously constituency and the vp node 6 taking structure seriously ii grammatical relations and clause union 7 the distribution of grammar in text on interpreting conditional associations 8 coming to terms with cognition coherence in text vs coherence in mind 9 on the co evolution of language mind and brain the main theme running through this volume is that coherence is a mental phenomenon rather than a property of the spoken or written text or of the social situation coherence emerges during speech production and comprehension allowing the speech receiver to form roughly the same episodic representation as the speech producer had in mind in producing and comprehending a text be it spoken or written the interlocutors collaborate towards coherence they negotiate for a common ground of shared topicality reference and thematic structure thus toward a similar mental representation of the text in conversation the negotiation takes place between the present participants in writing or oral narrative the negotiation takes place in the mind of the text producer between the text producer and his her mental representation of the mind of the absent or inactive interlocutor the cognitive mechanisms that underlie face to face communication thus continue to shape text production and comprehension in non interactive contexts most of the papers in this volume were originally presented at the symposium on coherence in spontaneous text held at the university of oregon in the spring of 1992 composite work on modern language teaching methods covers the use of teaching and training materials incl audiovisual aids audio lingual methods and programmed instruction thirty five reproducible activities per guide reinforce basic reading and comprehension skills while teaching high order critical thinking also included are teaching suggestions background notes summaries and answer keys the guide is digital simply print the activities you need for each lesson timeless classics designed for the struggling reader and adapted to retain the integrity of the original classic these classic novels will grab a student s attention from the first page included are eight pages of end of book activities to enhance the reading experience
